BIO

MSC. Jonida Çerekja completed her undergraduate studies in Computer Engineering at Ege University in Izmir as well as her Master of Business Administration (MBA) at Koç University in Istanbul, Turkey. She then worked in the private sector in various companies both in Istanbul and in Tirana, where she served mainly as a Project Manager. During this time she has successfully managed many projects implemented in banks and financial institutions.

She then held the position of Information Technology Advisor at the Ministry of Social Welfare and Youth and later in the Municipality of Tirana.

During these years she has initiated and implemented a number of projects and initiatives to improve the services of Central or Local Government in the field of technological development for financial services, social services, or community support services which have had an immediate impact on the daily life of citizens.

She has also participated in various international presentations of the Albanian Government initiatives in the field of Information Management Systems.

In recent years she has been a consultant in several information technology projects supported by various donors such as the World Bank, Swisscontact, RisiAlbania, etc., for central public institutions such as the Ministry of Finance and Economy, the Ministry of Health and Social Protection, the National Employment Agency and Skills etc.
